

ABSTRACT

A system and method for modeling the configuration of a network device is described. Such a system could include, for example, a CLI-to-XML converter connected to a schema storage device or a CLI-to-XML converter in combination with document object model (DOM) generator. Other embodiments could include a CLI-to-XML converter, a schema hash system, and a DOM generator.